Customer Reviews

Virginia K. Saba, EdD, RN, FACMI, FAAN, LL has been a pioneer in the integration of computer technology into the practice of nursing for more than 30 years, and spearheaded the nursing informatics movement. Her resume includes a 15-year tenure at Georgetown University, where she taught and integrated computer technology into both the graduate and undergraduate programs. She is still heavily involved in the advance of informatics in nursing, and speaks and consults extensively throughout the world. Kathleen A. McCormick, PhD, RN, FAAN, FACMI, FHIMSS (North Potomac, MD) has impressive experience in both the private and public sectors, including a 30-year tenure in the US Public Health Service Commissioned Corps, where she served on various boards, as well as teaching clinical courses at the University of Wisconsin and Johns Hopkins University, and University of Maryland. She is presently Principal/Owner SciMind, LLC. She speaks at informatics and research conferences throughout the world.

As there aren't many books out there on Nursing Informatics, I would give it four stars. Very simplistic in some areas, and advanced in other areas.

Great if you want to get into nursing informatics. Helps understand the concepts and it's easy to comprehend .

Seems like an easy read for a subject that may be considered dry reading by some.

As boring as expected

Excellent

Looking forward to receiving the workbook. Good comprehensive review of past, present and future.

Great!

Very good
