Susan Wise Bauer is a writer, teacher, and historian. Her books include The Story of Science: From the Writings of Aristotle to the Big Bang Theory, The Well-Trained Mind: A Guide to Classical Education at Home, The Well-Educated Mind: A Guide to the Classical Education You Never Had, the History of the World series (W. W. Norton) and the Story of the World series (Well-Trained Mind Press). She has a Ph.D. in American Studies from the College of William & Mary in Virginia, as well as an M.A. in seventeenth-century literature and a Master of Divinity in Ancient Near Eastern Languages and Literature. For fifteen years, she taught literature and composition at the College of William and Mary. She lives in Virginia.

As a homeschooling mom of five kids, I thought I would be buying one of these for each of my students. The first half of this massive book is for teacher use. It has review questions, additional resources, and activities to include in your lesson plans. The second half is the student pages. I've decided to keep only one copy for myself to use in lesson planning, and return the rest. For families with more than one child, the student pages can either be copied or purchased separately from the publisher printed or in PDF format. I really wish the teacher's materials had been printed in the hardcover text rather than this activity book, that way parents could purchase one "teachers book" and as many "student books" as they need.

My son enjoys the activities and I like how there are multiple options for different ages. Lots of suggested reading for library trips and the maps are a nice addition.

This book is quite large but good. It has neat crafts to do for each chapter of the correlating book. I especially like the recipes in it. Also some nice map work, comprehension questions & coloring pages. Not great for really young kids but 2nd ish grade is just fine, maybe younger depending on how much of the book you use. I love that this book gives you things to do that are hands on, which helps reinforce what you are reading and I'm not left wondering what to do for an activity. If you are using the story book that goes with this one and want more, this is a nice thing to buy.

A little confusing how it is set up but it has good information.

Great supplement for SOTW book and Tests. TONS of activities that relate to each chapter for all ages of homeschoolers

Love, love, love Story of the World. My kids ask for History everyday. Just 3 weeks into the school year and already completed 7 chapters. :-)

We have had the book to read, and recently started using the activity books. We had the book 2 set, and now purchased this one. It is great. My kids love the activities, and I love using it. Everything is right there. This is a great curriculum for history, especially for the grade school years.

My daughter loved the activities from this book and I love the questions to each chapter we read. It gives me a good idea of how much my daughter actually learned and remembered, and we go back into the text book to find the answers. This workbook is a good introduction to geography as well with all its map works (for each chapter!).
