Joe Soucy of Seaside Toys became hooked on lunch-toting tins in 1988 and has been collecting, buying, selling and dealing in the noontime nostalgia ever since. Karen O'Brien is a lifelong toy collector and book author/editor for Krause Publications and a featured columnist for several F+W Publications magazines. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Great book, very fast shipping!

My husband loved this book. Good reference book for someone interested in the value of metal lunchboxes!

I like this guide not so much to price a lunch box but to identify it and its age. For me the value of an item is what you can get someone to pay for it.

Perfect book for the lunch box collector.

good book lets you know what lunch boxes were made.....even the rare ones....i would recommend for a box collector...A+ thanks

Cute field guide. Very easy to reference quickly. Handy size. Pictures are very detailed. Wonderful book for the beginner. Warman's is great.

About all that is missing in this book is my grade school pal, Donnie, sharing his Twinkies with me. I've had a great time paging through what seems like a childhood of memories. The Field Guide offers a wide variety of lunch boxes from the first themed box (Hopalong Cassidy) to the most valuable box (a 1954 Superman worth $16,500!), to more common releases like The Dukes of Hazzard and Happy Days. It's 512 pages with just about that many color photographs. I double dog dare you to sit down with this book and a peanut butter and jelly sandwich and NOT feel like a kid again. Impossible.

This book has minimal photos of lunch boxes so many are missing. Descriptions are very short too. The Illustrated Encyclopedia of Metal Lunch Boxes is a much better guide.
