Réginald Marie Garrigou-Lagrange, O.P. (February 21, 1877, Auch, France • February 15, 1964, Rome) was a Catholic theologian and is considered by some to be the greatest Catholic Thomist of the 20th century. He taught at the Pontifical University of St. Thomas Aquinas, commonly known as the Angelicum, in Rome from 1909 to 1960. By 1917 a special professorship in ascetical and mystical theology was created for him at the Angelicum, the first of its kind anywhere in the world. His great achievement was to synthesise the highly abstract writings of St Thomas Aquinas with the experiential writings of St John of the Cross, showing how they are in perfect harmony with each other.

Customer Reviews

Anything by this author is well worth reading and reading again

Has many prayers but you have to choose which ones are appropriate. I cannot get myself to act like a priest and say things like "I bind you" so I skip those prayers but all else is great.

Unfortunately, Aeterna Press did not think it necessary to include any of Fr. Lagrange's many copious footnotes and references which makes this volume very incomplete and of limited usage.
