Eat Right For Your Sight: Simple, Tasty Recipes That Help Reduce The Risk Of Vision Loss From Macular Degeneration

Synopsis

Safeguard your vision with 85 simple, satisfying recipes rich in the nutrients that fight macular degeneration. The Bad News: Age-related macular degeneration (AMD) is the leading cause of central vision loss in adults over the age of fifty. It can wreak havoc on the ability to see faces, read, drive, and move about safely. Millions of people are at risk, and we still don't have a cure. The Good News: The latest research suggests that healthy lifestyle choices, including a diet rich in lutein, zeaxanthin, and other key nutrients, can delay the onset and progress of AMD. Eat Right for Your Sight provides a delicious way to add the best ingredients for eye health to every meal of the day. Feast your eyes on these appealing recipes: Sweet Pea Guacamole, Chicken-Vegetable Noodle Bowls, Garlic-Lime Pork Chops, Carrot-Ginger Juice . . . and more! Every recipe includes comprehensive nutrition information and has been carefully crafted to act like medicine, but not taste like it. Taking care of your eyes has never been easier! With Recipes from Lidia Bastianich, Ina Garten, Jacques Pépin, Alice Waters, Andrew Weil, MD, and other superstars of healthy cooking.

Customer Reviews

“A diet rich in lutein, zeaxanthin and other key nutrients may delay the onset and progress of age-related macular degeneration (the leading cause of central vision loss in adults over 50), and these recipes can help fit eye health into every meal.” —Food and Nutrition Magazine

“Eat Right for Your Sight is a beautifully illustrated, 240 page compendium comprised of palate pleasing, appetite satisfying, nutritionally enhanced dishes that would be appropriate for any and all dining occasions—and have the additional benefit of being impressive sources of the kinds of nutrients that healthy eyes and eyesight require.

•Midwest Book Review

“I often call my medical thrillers ÆœCook Books, but Eat Right for Your Sight is a wonderful real one that proves Benjamin Franklin’s adage that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure!

•Robin Cook, MD, best-selling author and physician

“This isn’t just a cookbook for eye health, it’s a blueprint for healthy eating in general. I love all the nutrition tips: combine spinach and strawberries to maximize your iron absorption; add roasted squash to hummus puree to boost your vitamin A intake. And it really should be called Eat Right Tonight. There are so many dishes I want to make right now. Grilled Oysters. Pumpkin Pappardelle. Pear and Raspberry Galette. If this is health food, I want to see the light!

I’ve tried four of the recipes and looked carefully at the others and find they are nothing unusual from how I’ve been cooking for years. They were good, but nothing outstanding. I guess if I were new to the cooking scene I may have liked this book better. For someone who knows little about eating right and eyesight, this is probably a good book.

I look for recipes in all the time

Great book.

Nothing too exciting here---I keep trying to find a recipe I want to make, but so far nothing!

Informative. Just what my sister and I need to start working seriously on eye health. Got it in record time and it's brand new.

Great book ...Good & delicious recipes

Beautiful photos. Inspiring text. Important information for each recipe. The problem for me about this cookbook is that most of the ingredients are ones that I already eat. They are the same ones--brightly colored vegetables--that prevent heart disease, Alzheimers, inflammation, you name it. The other ingredients have names with which I am not familiar and I don't know where to buy them. They are probably not available in my little town.

Learning a lot!
