Synopsis

Waterproof Tear-Resistant Travel MapExplore the storied "Emerald Isle" with National Geographic's Ireland Adventure Map. Designed to meet the needs of adventure travelers with its detailed, accurate information, this map includes the location of cities and towns with a user-friendly index and a clearly marked road network complete with distances and designations for roads/highways, plus secondary routes for those seeking to explore off the beaten path. Specialty content such as hundreds of diverse and unique recreational, ecological, cultural, and historical destinations make Adventure Maps the perfect companion to a guidebook. The Ireland Adventure Map covers the entire island including the Republic of Ireland and British-ruled Northern Ireland in one easy-to-use map. The north side of the map details from the northernmost tip of the island at Malin Head south to Dublin and Galway, including Belfast, Dundalk, Londonderry, and Sligo. The south side overlaps the northern side of the map at Galway on the west and Dublin on east, covering the remainder of the country including the cities of Limerick, Tralee, Cork, and Waterford. Ireland's lush green landscape is a result of its temperate, oceanic climate. The island's geography is mostly comprised of a central plain surrounded by relatively low-lying mountains. Coastal regions vary from sandy beaches to towering cliffs that rise hundreds of feet above the pounding surf. Castles, churches, abbeys, monasteries, and Neolithic sites abound, offering travelers a remarkable variety of opportunities to explore Ireland's rich and ancient cultural history. Every Adventure Map is printed on durable synthetic paper, making them waterproof, tear-resistant and tough • capable of withstanding the rigors of international travel. I have Nat Geo Maps for just about everywhere I go. It was nice to have a good map in Ireland since driving on the Left side of the road (and right side of the car) was already a bit of a challenge, it was nice to not have to worry about directions.

We leave for Ireland in 4 months and we study the map daily. The roads are helpful. It's sturdy enough with a good coating for protection. Shows ferry lines, which helps. Folds up nicely. We are happy with this purchase. Jean

A very tough, plastinated road map that should hold up to a rigorous tour.

Nice heavy duty map. It survived 2 weeks driving around Ireland. Good markings for towns, roads and sites of interest. My co-travellers brought a AAA map and the Nat Geo outshined that one multiple times over. We'll worth the money.

Typical National Geographic quality. Description of product is accurate.

I'm delighted with this map! It's big enough to read easily. It is big enough for all the markings necessary for a Really Good Road Map, without being cluttered. The coating on the paper will allow me to fold and refold many times, without tearing the map. The legend, and symbols, are clear and readable. All qualities I look for in a good map.

This is not a good map. I wish I had listened to the reviews. Ended up purchasing a Garmin GPS to get around. Had some good tourist places highlighted, but I'd do better on a google search.

We are using it for planning our trip. We can spread it out and discuss where things are and find what's in the area. We put sticky dots on places we want to visit. Because of the coated paper they are easy to stick and remove. Will take it with us.
